Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 20 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Windy and wet today, especially in the north. Drier tomorrow.

Today:
A cloudy and wet day, with outbreaks of rain throughout, heaviest and most persistent over high ground in the Lake District. Occasional drier spells may develop in the south. Mild, though tempered by strong winds - coastal gales in Cumbria. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Today's rain will gradually weaken and clear to the east during the evening, leaving dry conditions through the early hours and clear spells in the north. Winds easing before dawn. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Sunday:
Mostly dry on Sunday, with only a few showers in the south later. Brighter for all, though longer spells of sunshine confined to the north. Feeling mild, with light winds. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Dry and bright on Monday after a little early morning rain. Rain and strong winds return later on Tuesday. A mix of rain and drier spells on Wednesday. Mild throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.